Management Discussion and Analysis Report

Industry Overview

In India, the drug manufacturing industry has evolved over the years as a business which requires good business fundamentals, technology, expertise, finance and timely deliverables. The Company has established, grown and survived in the various market conditions and proved itself to be a good market player.

Future outlook

The Company plans to expand its business by entering into new contracts and commitments with various national / multinational manufactures and increase the turnover of the Company by capturing greater clientele. The key factors driving growth in the drug and pharmaceutical industry is the increase in healthcare access and increased penetration in underpenetrated/ smaller towns.

Risk Factors

Manufacture of drugs is strictly regulated and controlled by authorities across the world. Should the Company or its suppliers/ contractors fail to fully comply with such regulations, there could be a regulator-enforced shutdown of concerned production facilities, revocation of drug approvals previously granted, failure or delay in obtaining approvals for new products, product recalls of existing drugs sold in the market, prohibition on the sale or import of non-complying products. Regulators across the world have become stricter, in respect of compliance to requirements with even more severe consequences for non-compliance.

Strengths

As there is huge competition on the market front, the policy of 'Survival of the fittest' still holds good. As the production cost and cost of labour is controlled by various means and techniques the company's products stand out in the market with respect to the sales prices keeping intact the profitability ratios as desired. The Company has evolved to be a highly technology and labour friendly organistion.
